

One of the most innovative projects ever undertaken by Bellway is now taking shape in Cardiff. Prospect Place will be the second largest residential development in Wales, and one of the largest land reclamation projects since the construction of the Cardiff barrage. Involving the construction of a rock armour wall and 160,000 tons of infill, the development will comprise 688 units. Sited on the edge of Cardiff Bay, Prospect Place will add significantly to the regeneration of Cardiff's waterfront, creating new homes for a substantial number of people, enabling them to enjoy the amenities of the bay and the convenience of being close to the capital city.